A Medieval Tapestry

Chicago Early Music Consort returns to the barn on Valentine's Day with a program of 14th century music from France and Italy. Lively dances and other instrumental pieces will be interspersed among love songs, and pieces describing an impromptu all-night concert, and a village scrambling to put out a fire. Featuring music by poet/composer Guillaume de Machaut - the first great figure in Western music - Francesco Landini, Jacopo da Bologna, Niccolo da Perugia and others.

With

Stephanie Sheffield, soprano and percussion • Gary Berkenstock, recorders
Joel Spears, lute • Phillip Serna, vielle
